WHY BROADCASTERS

Should Shift to VoIP
Offerings by ClearlyIP

ClearlyIP Trusted Provider of Broadcast Ready VoIP Services

ClearlyIP is a Trusted, Broadcast-Aware VoIP/SIP Service Provider that should be your First Choice when Considering Moving your Inbound Calling to Voice over IP.

Many Legacy Telco Providers have discontinued or made cost-prohibitive Choke Lines and Choke Exchanges that Broadcasters have depended on for decades. These services have been used in the broadcast industry to allow vast numbers of inbound calls simultaneously to facilitate things such as Radio Call In contests or to enable live callers for Podcast/Broadcasters with massive audiences.

Choke Lines or Choke Exchanges typically have a higher price than traditional telephony services due to the requirement to handle large call volumes without disrupting the rest of the telephone network of the provider. As legacy providers move away from technologies that provide this service, many broadcasters are forced to change to newer technologies.
